

Ancient Heroes Week 3

1. For each of the biblical heroes you read about this week (Samuel, David, and Solomon), what do you believe to be the act that most aligns them with biblical heroism?

Samuel

---

---

David

---

---

---

Solomon

---

---

---

2. Compare the ways God called Samuel, David, and Solomon by describing each calling.

---

---

---

---

---

3. Which of the three biblical heroes you read about this week do you consider to be the most heroic, and why?

---

---

---

---

---

---

4. Consider that God called each of the ancient heroes in a different way. Now think of someone you know or know about who was called by God. How was that person called?

---

---

---

---

---

---

5. Think about your answer to question 3 above. How did the person you wrote about respond to God's calling, and what was the mission God gave them?

6. Many Christians respect and learn from specific people who came before them and call them “saints.” Even if you do not call those who came before you saints, are there any people such as church fathers, missionaries from the past, past people known for helping the widows and the orphans, or other such people from the past that you can think of who might be considered as heroes? Briefly tell about that person and how he or she lived up to the Hebrew heroic standards you have been learning about.
